

Fall of the Dark Paradigm

Rising Sun Paradigm

There is a System dominating all of Humanity, but it no longer controls - in fact, currently it's overwhelmed by multiple global crises - most importantly, by a failing and toxic food system, based on grains and meat, which is producing pervasive illness, infertility, early development and end of life dysfunction and general malaise, especially in our North American consumer economy. This unhealthy food, lacking in nutritive value, puts added stress on the medical and social welfare system that responds with coping strategies that are largely amplifying problems rather than providing solutions. As a result our health care systems are breaking down and we have seen that the situation can become even more extreme when stressed by a global pandemic.

Concurrently, our struggling economy is impacted with multiple large-scale traumatic events - hurricanes, wildfires, floods, tornadoes - that stress the System. Taken together with the many other political, social and environmental stresses, there is a sense of deepening depression that is tearing at the fabric of life, a sense of loss of hope - and, there's no unifying collective vision for a way out.

Somehow, perhaps only a higher level of consciousness and love will be effective, to bring change to what we know is "structurally" wrong with the System in which we feel captive. Can we "unmake" our man-made reality, or "Paradigm" or shall we remain constrained by the chains of mental slavery to this System. Fear and a sense of hopelessness can take hold when we realize that the defects, now exposed, are that way by the design of a small elite who are the Rulers of this System. It takes courage to face the fact that our helplessness and oppression is a necessary condition to sustain the rule of the Dark Paradigm, which is operating to concentrate nearly all wealth and power in the hands of a very few individuals who profit greatly from the exploitation of people and the planet.

The driving force behind this ancient Dark Paradigm is a "power-over" addiction that plays out as a violent competition for domination of People and Nature. The evolution of this struggle for power, over the millennia, has brought the human “struggle for existence” to the current brink of disaster. Now we face the very real probability of not only a human die-off, but of global Ecosystems Collapse. We may not understand these forces and how, or why we have arrived at this dark place, but we instinctively feel the threat as we observe the symptoms of the impending “end of the world as we know it”.

If we could get clarity about how we got into this death spiral, then I see real hope to find a safe way out; to find a pathway from the Dark into the light of the Sun Paradigm; to birth a new reality in which our lives begin to flourish and all of humanity may thrive while serving and living in harmony with the whole of LIFE. But, to find the root cause of the darkness around us we must be ready to think deeply and overturn the fundamental assumptions on which our lives have been grounded. There is shared responsibility for the flawed, interwoven Systems that continue to empower the Dark Paradigm’s operation. Together, all of humanity have built lives based on fundamental errors common to all of the Cultures of the world. One and all they chose a path of warfare and male hierarchy (Patriarchy) that results in a social order of domination by the few and servitude and exploitation of the many, which trends towards ever greater violence and widens the wealth/poverty gap, leaving the vast majority of people living in deep and despairing poverty.

Down through the ages, Kings and Lords of the land enlisted loyal subjects to serve in command and control structures (today it’s the military/industrial complex), appointed licensed commodity and money traders, instituted authorized education and religion (as indoctrination systems) and established property law and civil authority on which they built the success and established the legacy of Colonialism (to rule the world). These complex multifaceted structures of “civilization” enforced an era, like none before, of enslavement and genocide as the bedrock of a global Plantation Economy that generated unprecedented upper-class wealth able to ultimately challenge the powers of Kings. Pirates in the Americas, operating outside of Royal authority became the captains of powerful naval fleets and the invention of modern money, international commodity trade and global currency arbitrage amplified the new “private wealth” of “free traders” to rival the power of the Crown - especially in the revolutionary USA where the most wealthy Plantation and Industrial privateers could thrive free from domination of Colonial Powers.

This new liberty, born in America, (contrary to the propaganda) was designed to work for the benefit of the privileged few who claimed the land (while decimating Indigenous Peoples), the resources and wealth of the new nation, creating a government that structurally didn’t reflect the aspirations of the common people to be freed from the constraints and limitations of the Dark Paradigm. The new government put the reigns of power into the hands of a wealth & property based (male) Ruling Class who fashioned a constitutional, legal and economic framework that boxed the ordinary people into lives and livelihoods controlled by a System rigged for their subjugation and exploitation in ways not very different than that practiced by Kings of old. All components of this System act in concert to maintain the concentration of power in the hands of the few - and so, the Dark Paradigm was propagated to the present day when the Corporate and Capitalistic nightmare scenario of global conflict and climate ecocide has locked-in.

The means for control of the land, of regulation of travel and navigation and monopolization of global resource exploitation are, now in the digital era, ever more manipulated by the capitalist and corporate elite. The people are more urban and more dependent as “consumers” - and with a younger generation now enmeshed in extremely vulnerable virtual-reality digital identity - it means that people are easily panicked and manipulated. Recognizing these weaknesses there is concern for the further corruption of the American experiment in self-governance (democracy), since there is evidence that the concentration of ownership of digital technology (including Artificial Intelligence) in the hands of the 1% is being used to reinforce the lies and untruths that underlie the Dark Paradigm’s power-over the collective consciousness.

The self-governance that we seek to create, “of the people and by the people” is the opposite of the cult of personality that surrounds a Ruler or today, a celebrity, a politician or billionaire. Therefore, it is instinctive for the ordinary people to connect with each other and resist fears that might separate us. Emergencies, now at our doorsteps, bring down the barriers that divide us - as people of every status have become vulnerable - revealing that everyone appreciates unity in the face of our common crisis. Our shared “thoughts and prayers” become the healing life-force that builds up our “heart connection and coherence”, which can and will establish the necessary conditions for a paradigm shift that we are poised to accomplish, based upon our emerging consciousness of a new “power-with” force for action in global unison. Only a paradigm shift can overturn the deep conditioning causing us, as victims, to give our consent to the ever increasing abuse; but until that shift takes hold, the Dark Paradigm of power-over continues to operate to divide and conquer the people, even those living in the so-called democracies.

Therefore, what is needed for resolution of our multiple urgent problems is not further problem analysis that simply restates the structural problems of hierarchy and our conditioning to accept the world, as it is. Rather, we want the answers that would come from exploring what lies beyond the untruths of the Dark Paradigm ruling over our lives; we want a way out of a life of separation - divided as we are, one from another, and all isolated from Nature and any possibility of achieving our food sovereignty and security. We don’t need more words, we need solutions that are practical and accessible now.

Let's illuminate the way forward using these images: What we see in the world (hierarchy) is not modeled on what we would imagine Heaven to be like, where love rules, as for example in the Gospel Story where we see a divine Jesus living his life of teaching and healing as a "servant God". Christ willingly submitted himself, as a sacrifice, to the violence and ultimate judgment by worldly authority; disproving that he held to any claim of power-over the world. Consider that, therefore, the world uses an untruth about God to justify authoritarian rule, since Rulers assert that their worldly power stems from a "God-like" divine right to subjugate (not to serve). This untruth further isolates us from knowledge of the true God and of our true "Place" in Creation. Christ's mission was, and still is, to break the chains of indoctrination and "education for oppression" - to "let the captives go free", knowing that: God is not over us, but is with us, and whom the Spirit sets free (from worldly oppression), is free indeed - meaning we shall no longer live in the grip of the Dark Paradigm.

There is an increasing awareness, among a critical number of human beings, of a new consciousness that has emerged from the historic impact of the Pandemic Emergency, which is accelerating humanity into a paradigm shift. If you are one of these awakened people, then let's explore how the Lord's Prayer presents an inspired plan for activation of paradigm shift - with critical guidance in this historic moment of crisis. May we be reborn, with our sight no longer clouded by the untruths of the world, and see, not an imaginary heaven, but the true and sacred reality of our Place and the Purpose of our Being. We know that the man-made world is not reflective of that Sacred Reality, and we know Jesus's words "thy Kingdom come" promise that our world is about to be transformed - to be born anew, as "on earth as it is in heaven".

To see more clearly the coming paradigm shift, I ask you to consider the importance of "give us this day our daily bread" meaning that our necessities are to be provided as a gift from Nature (Creation) that can be, will be, (once we are in alignment) totally sufficient to our needs. The promise is that, in our everyday experience, sure as the sunrise, our lives will confirm that "life-supports-life" abundantly - this is the nature of the coming heavenly kingdom. The "battle with Nature" will then end and humanity will be supported in all of our needs in a non-violent relationship with the whole of Life - Creation will start giving when we stop (greedily) taking!

Working together, as we learn and adopt the power-with strategies of the Sun Paradigm, every family shall inhabit an environment of their own making that reflects a new relationship with our Food and with Nature. Virally, around the world, people will share and teach one another how to make a "small space to make the world a better place"; which is the first, most important step towards our massively transformative purpose of building the world anew "on earth as it is in heaven". But how can we take even this first step; how can the poor be the kingdom builders? Answer - each must be forgiven their debts and trespasses, as they also forgive others - and each become as a child to enter the kingdom of God - but, what is the meaning and how is it possible?

Yes, this is the hard part - to be reborn - but what is man-made can be unmade and we can free ourselves from our conditioned ways of belief and action under the Dark Paradigm. Can we remake ourselves, our world and restore what is damaged and heal what has been broken, including the broken hearts and spirits of people everywhere? How?

The Lord's Prayer tells us that the key to open the door and enter the "new earth and new heaven" is forgiveness and reconciliation of relationships previously based on the world's concept of trespass and debt. This requires the removal of the constraints of a man-made system of property and money relationships, which rule in the world but are not structured in alignment with the rising Sun Paradigm. The trauma, which is generational, may be removed as we share and validate to everyone's experience everywhere in the world - that abundance is the proven truth and scarcity is the lie - then scarcity and poverty will be no more the human condition. As predicted by Nelson Mandela, our massively transformative purpose is to "make poverty history" and it is this present generation that shall make it so; they shall cross over, they will enter into the new reality - reaching a "Land of Plenty", brightly shining under the light of the Sun Paradigm.

The Dark Paradigm is falling and we are going down with it if we don't let go of our poverty consciousness - let go of our hierarchical structure of domination, which at the top has a King claiming the divine right of ownership of all property, thereby making all subjects liable for rent. This system of rent is a key tenant of the Dark Paradigm: Rent is paid in the token system - what we now call money - including the principal token of subjugation, which is taxation. Tax was historically paid in strategic commodities, especially grain, and the farmer was principally responsible. The people's lives were enslaved to serve the King and the Lords who required the people they ruled and the people they conquered to pay tax in form of grain and other commodities and in service rendered to the King. Kings built Empires by warfare on other nations, who when defeated were then required, on threat of genocide, to slave in production of grain wealth, the harvest being transported to the Emperor and stockpiled for the purpose of powering the standing armies of the Empire.

As we know from the Robin Hood legend, it was made illegal for the subjects of the King to have liberty in the land and to live from the abundance of the forest. People, as property of the Crown, without exception were compelled to shelter in proximity to Lord's castle, with a privileged few, selected for their loyalty, living within the Castle Walls while most are obliged to live in the deforested, agricultural land and toil in the production of grain crops, which was the biofuel of the ancient world. We, the people, were separated from Nature for the purpose of our enslavement and exploitation by rulers. Property Law, which governs all human relationships worldwide, removes the natural right of a person's place in the world and denies families a true home and sense of belonging in a community. This is the traumatic "original violence" that is now enforced universally. Lords, who were granted land-use for their loyalty to the King, created the system of Property Law, which evolved into what we know now as the Rule of Law.

For the common people, it means that we have the status of a "trespasser" on the land of the Lord, or the King. The trespassing gives rise to a debt of forgiveness that is paid in labor or rent, which evolved into the token system of money that sets up the pattern of living in a "struggle for existence". Tokens are only given in exchange for the valued "cash crops" and commodities or selected service to the Crown, thus devaluing all other abundant resources and livelihoods. Further, the money value of commodities that the people struggle to produce for the King, or in modern times, for the Capitalist - this "exchange" is now set by the System through the corporate manipulation of what is a so-called "free market" for such commerce and trade.

Rates of exchange, and rent were and still are corruptly set by price-fixing that maintains the poverty and hunger gap (see my paper "closing the hunger gap") between the ruling class and the people. In the midst of plenty, the people lived (and still now live) in abject poverty because of the token money system that focuses value on the resources that benefit the wealthy and diminish the value of abundant resources that are widely accessible to the people. In such a manner, the economy operates under the Dark Paradigm, so as to deepen the general poverty and increase the people's helplessness and exposure to debt and more exploitation. Principal among the marginalized resources is natural sunlight, because it has an unlimited value and because it's universally accessible to all.

Rulers who became Emperors learned that the key to maintaining their "center-of-power" was to impoverish the conquered people, with a purpose that the potential adversary would never arise to challenge the rule of the Emperor, and at the root of this inability to recover was the gradual degradation of the ecology of the lands and the soils of the conquered people. This was, and still is, the purpose of agriculture - a very successful strategy to weaponize food - requiring first the deforestation and clearing of land for production of annual grain mono crops, and requiring tillage that is a great labor (in modern times consuming vast petrochemical resources).

Before the era of mechanization, grain production (wheat, corn & rice) required the conscripted labor of the entire population of the conquered nations, who were allowed only a very small portion of the harvest for their own subsistence. Cropping annual grain (the only varieties that produce large heads of seed) that have shallow roots and add back no nutrition to the soils also effectively destroyed the capacity of the soil to produce future harvests, and depleted soils result in drought and barrens only suitable for sheep and goat herding that further degrades the ecosystem. Over decades and even centuries, the ongoing deforestation and extreme exploitation of the soils of the subjugated people, resulted in desertification of vast regions of North Africa and the ancient Fertile Crescent - irreversible ecological collapse - the extreme but intentional outcome of the Agriculture practices enforced upon the conquered peoples by Empire after Empire.

Humanity's relationship with food and with nature has been broken for many millennia and we have lost ancestral wisdom about the natural abundance of undamaged, thriving ecosystems - so that we now cannot conceive what was the life of Indigenous Peoples before the destruction of the wilderness that created biodiverse habitat (as we have put to the ax and plough 5 billion hectares, worldwide). The weaponization of food and the money/commodity valuation of agricultural products strategic for warfare produces unhealthy "processed-food" for people and unnatural feed for animals. In modern times we are all consumers of industrial foods based on processed GMO grain crops cultivated on 2 to 3 billion hectares, worldwide.

Rising of the Sun Paradigm - no family left behind!

How can we, while embedded in the matrix of the Dark Paradigm, break out of this hierarchical power structure, if we cannot reclaim our food sovereignty and improve our general health and wellbeing?

First, understand that the failing, falling Dark Paradigm is an existential threat that calls for immediate rapid adaptation because the environmental crisis and climate emergency will cause food, energy and water supply chains to be broken, resulting in economic collapse and conflicts in the streets and globally. Adaptation is of immediate concern - we need to fight the Dark Paradigm - we need to protect ourselves, our families and communities from the fall, from the great crash and the multiple perils, especially of the scorching heat, of the End Days.

We can build resilient communities when people at home and in their neighborhoods establish local, even hyper-local (backyard) food production using never before seen innovations that are vital for rebuilding our broken relationship with Nature. This widespread adoption of regenerative growing systems will enable Communities to achieve food sovereignty and security in any climate. Within a "Closed Controlled Ecological Environment" we can build a future of abundance for all - this SolaRoof know-how can be replicated with Web3 Technology Sharing accessibility for everyone, everywhere to secure abundant food, clean energy and pure water-from-air resources.

To achieve this result, I have dedicated the SolaRoof technology to development in a global process of Creative Commons collaboration and technology sharing. As an inventor, I am deeply aware of the necessity that we mobilize a widespread, grassroots movement that is empowered by sharing experience to assure the success of each one who decides to take action to grow food locally, by adopting our 21st century innovations. Individually this paradigm shift is very difficult, but when we, the people, engage our collective skills and intelligence for international, interdisciplinary innovation, then there is a massive capacity to overcome the deep set resistance to change that is designed into the food system. We cannot save the food system that we know, because it has been long embedded in the Dark Paradigm and is powered by fossil energy - only the SolaRoof technology, powered by natural sunlight, can mobilize a local-to-global, fresh food revolution has the potential to rescue humanity from global famine and a human die-off.

Since the Dark Paradigm is falling, then you can expect to see all of its principal components fail one by one, or depending on the scenario, there may be a chaotic collapse of multiple systems at one time, in the near future. But among these dangers, the danger of illness and global famine due to the toxic and failing food system is the greatest threat to the security of your family and community. This is exactly why, as we anticipate the coming kingdom “on earth as it is in heaven”, we must each take action on the promise of “give us this day our daily bread”. With your children, with your neighbors and community, learn by doing, as we individually and collectively build a new relationship with Nature. This relationship is called regenerative and you will learn to operate in synergy with natural life support systems within the SolaRoof built-environment.

Participate in the universal adoption of SolaRoof technology, it's is YOUR first step on a pathway to safety and when replicated and adopted successfully by most people, there will arise a consciousness for action in global unison - this is most critical among the many tipping points in the worldwide shift to the Sun Paradigm. Our success with the adoption of SolaRoof will lead to a widespread capacity to build a new Ecological Architecture, co-creating a safe space for every family - a built-environment capable of converting sunlight to food, feed, fiber, fuel and electricity is the foundation for a cascade of 21st Century technological and digital advancements elevating the lives of the People. Our real-life and virtual-reality experiences and lifestyles will include diverse ways to construct and equip our homes and build our communities so as to enhance human synergy and alignment with the whole of Life. This adoption and adaptation to change will strengthen - until the rising morning star of the Sun Paradigm will have extinguished all traces of the prior Darkness.

This transformation is within reach now due to the advanced knowledge that is accessible by at least one billion people who are online, and who consciously and passionately seek to build a better world for their children. The secure, fresh and hyper-local food breakthrough can take place with astounding rapidity; and PyraPOD will be the catalyst for the great shift - abandoning the Dark Paradigm and coming over to the Sun Paradigm. At the same time, not waiting for the government, academic and business sectors may take action, while millions of families can directly take effective action on Climate Change adaptation & mitigation that is capable of averting or at least managing the crises that we have in common. We, the people, can mobilize a movement for paradigm shift because, with Web3 sharing platforms, local to global communities can establish viral products offered by interconnected enterprise networks empowering everyone, everywhere to make the change - and we will leave no family behind.

Focus on the rising Sun Paradigm while striving for alignment as we:

- Build a movement for local, natural food - in the backyards, schoolyards, farmyards and in our communities.
- Create accessible Creative Commons technology, enabling everyone, everywhere to experience directly a new reality of abundance.
- Implement the Web3 Economy through PyraPOD with the commercialization and viral adoption of vital humanitarian innovation
- Adopt the SolaRoof “livingry” solutions as a catalyst for change - each one making a small space to make the world a better place.
- Families can access PyraPOD by purchasing from local Hubs of our decentralized POD Enterprise Network the DIY prefabricated kits for the backyard, allowing responsible parents to take back control of food security and safety for their children by growing their own fresh, organic and healthy food.
- Put the Dark Paradigm behind us and make poverty history!

The Dark Paradigm is falling; be ready, get ahead of the curve; make your personal shift into the rising Sun Paradigm.

The PyraPOD - working with a decentralized strategy to deliver SolaRoof for a future of abundance for all.

For the reader who is eager to learn about and then take action to build and operate your own SolaRoof “Livingry” installation at home, then you are invited to join our global grassroots movement for Creative Commons collaboration and Web3 commercialization of our vital humanitarian innovations.

- Livingry is technology working with and for life, in harmony with Nature, to increase the dynamic of regenerative living that enriches the whole of life
- No extraction, depletion or exploitation
- Designs are fully aligned with the Sun Paradigm
- Family life will constantly increase in abundance, health and wealth

Let's gain experiential knowledge of Livingry with the construction of a PyraPOD, now available for the backyard or schoolyard. Let's do this together with the neighborhood, with friends and family and at schools within your community. We can end our dependence on the industrial food system with its synthetic fertilizers and chemical inputs producing corrupted (GMO and irradiated) plant and animal products offering deficient and fake, even fatal facsimiles of real food.

Join the POD Fresh Food movement for living, real food that is consumed soon after you harvest it, in your own backyard, with zero miles and zero time from harvest to plate. Please visit PyraPOD for prefabricated kits and to learn more about the SolaRoof - be the change, be a PyraPOD Pioneer.
